

Harold Rojas

May 2nd 2020

English 1121

Word Count: 422

Process Essay

In this project when the professor first told us about “repurposing” our first assignments I thought that we were going to take our assignments and redo them but with a different purpose since it was called “repurpose.” In the beginning, I didn’t know what the professor wanted us to do until she posted the second class session in which it explained clearly what I needed to do because it stated the questions that we needed to answer and all of the requirements that we needed to have. Also when the professor shared to us the second class session she gave me some sort of head start and I knew where I was heading and what I needed to do. My initial plans for the website were to combine my discourse community, which is SEEK and my genre, which is Health but I couldn’t think of something to make them work together so I only chose my discourse community in which I could talk more and I also could have made it better because it was easier than my genre which it would make it harder for me to make it creative and fun. In the process of making this website I had changed the table of contents because it had what each page will be about but it didn’t have actual links so I had to learn how to insert a link into google slides by googling it and then I had to change them to actual links. The feedback that I received was fair because my classmates said that I needed to include more images to make it better and I did that which made the website look better and also they commented on the links, which there were no links, so I added them. Something that I would change if I had to do the project all over again is that I would combine my discourse community of SEEK with my genre of Health because that way I can talk about how SEEK helps college students be successful and what impact that has on their overall health, which can be being more motivated to study, having less chance of being stressed out by exams and even having a better attitude towards life because by us having good memories in the SEEK program we remember it for life and we use those skills in our own lives once we graduate so that we may be better persons in the future.