The reason why I decided to showcase this discourse community is because I love the sport of Basketball. Basketball is apart of my everyday life and it's what me and my friends love to talk about and play. The design of the website was made up by me and I took a little inspiration from the NBA website. The colors are red, white and blue to match the logo of the NBA. My intended audience is people who are interested and love the sport of basketball like me and my friends do.
