Unit 3 process essay

When the professor first introduced the idea of “repurposing” on our previous assignment I honestly got excited. The reason I got excited was because I was going to be able to explain and get more in depth on my genre. Even tho I was excited I had to think a bit on how I was going to start off to make it easy for the audience to understand the message of the whole website. I started right away though and thinking on how I was going to make my website. I started off first with a way for soccer players to sign in to get into a good soccer team where you can become a professional soccer player. I didn't really change my mind on how I wanted my website. I've always wanted the website to stay the same from the start. But the peer review did him me a bit. Yes all my plans were workable and easy to explain. Some things I had to alter while working on my website was on the picture and some video clips. The explaining on the players and teams stayed the same. From my first peer review I felt good. Based on the first peer review I didn't really make much change. After my second peer review I felt like I needed to add some stuff to it. I added a slide and added more pictures. Which made my website more informative. Yes I feel like I did reach my initial goals. Some worked out good because it made it easier for the readers to read. Some didn't work out as I wanted because it didn't haven enough information and examples for the readers to understand. I learned from myself that I can easily make a website because before I started I thought I wasn't going to be able to make one since I thought it was too hard. I even learned more on soccer players and academy while researching based on it. Honestly I wouldn't really change much because it came out good and it was well explained for everyone to understand. I think some of the video clips were very helpful for some people that don't know about the rules of soccer and would like to learn more on it. I'm very proud of my website because I'm sure and confident it's very clear for the audience to start their way to becoming a good soccer star player. Also the colorings on the website matter which is one of the things that make it easy for the audience understand. I put a black background which would make any color of the letter easy to read.
