The Elements

The elements of a ted talk script

Its a script of a presentation that will be recorded with an audience.

It will be presented to people of all ages and professions.

Normal people or journalists, reporters that are interested in your topic.

Things to consider

You have to get their attention and be entertaining, with an interesting topic, some nice images and some jokes wouldn't hurt to keep them relaxed, but there is always a time and place for it.

Images can be used.

Images can be very impactful as a Ted talk is a presentation and the script has to work with it in order to know what to say in your presentation.

You must talk to the audience as a person, first person pov. Usually the presenter is speaking in first person, third person would work in some situations like telling a story in your topic and similes.
