So today i going to talk about my chosen field which it is architecture and why I chosen this fold as my major, so when around 10 when / came to New York I was amazed by how the city look and mostly Manhattan with its big buildings and everything and Manhattan was built and little by little because the Manhattan that it is today so every single time, when I went to the park or any place else I could see the big building pooping Up and how it look like they were, coming out of the ground or something and that is when it started to like architecture or something like that, back in my country these was not a lot of tall buildings that caught the attention of people but one thing that I always like about the city that I live was the center of it, so let me tell more about my story as to why I chose architecture major, so like, said i was 10 when came to Ny and the first time when went to Manhattan I was so amazed by how the architecture was made in there the first time when I saw the Empire State I was surprised by how tall it was, I mean it was huge, most buildings in my country were not that tall at all, but this building was another thing out of this world and al lot of people when they come to NY are so surprised by how tall the buildings are specially tourist, the more I saw the buildings in Manhattan the more I became in love with architecture, as the years past I was learning more about the history behind architecture and how humanity evolved from building houses with rocks to buildings this massive skyscrapers, so when the time came to go to college I decided that the major that I was going to chose was architecture and that is going to be my goal, but I also wanted to become an architecture because of my dad he always you to tell that when he was around my age he wanted to be an architecture as well as my self but he could not accomplish that same goal as me because at that when my father was young that career cost a lot of money in my country and in order to graduate from that career you will need to pay a lot of money for your tuition in my country and also the economy in my country at that time was not good but my father told me that if that is my goal to go on and make sure that nothing stops me and to never give up even if seems that architecture is hard to never look back on. Those words of my father were the ones to motivate me to want to become an architecture. At the time of my junior year I started to look for colleges that had architecture as a major and that is when I discover The New York City College of Technology and how they were know well for having a lot of major that have to do with technology so that is when I decided to choose that college as well although I kept having other colleges in mind like City College but I did not know what to pick at that time because I'm going to be honest I'm sometimes pick in some things and I use to tell my parents that if architecture is as good as it seems and I did not want to disappoint my parents as well as me and after later not want to become an architecture because at first when I was little is was obsess to become an archeologist because I used to love dinosaurs you know those big creatures that once were around our world and they were so amazing and prehistoric but then I change my mind because that career is not hard but you have to travel a lot and I did not want to stay away from my family a little while so I told my parents that I also wanted to become and architecture because is convenient for me because I can work in the city and also have time for my family and spend time with them so after years of making sure on what I wanted to follow as my career I wanted to be an architecture so when the time came I started to apply for colleges that had architecture as their major and hopefully I get accepted in most of them so all I had to do is wait but also I was worried on how I was going to pay for my tuition because I did not have a job at that time so my parents told me that they will do their best to support me and make sure that I graduate and become an architecture, but I was still worried about that but I said to my self that not matter what I'm going to become an architecture and that I'm not going to give up and that I will do my best so after that I started to make some research about architecture and how is a very nice career and how you can follow different paths but I wanted hopefully one day I can become my own boss and make buildings for famous people and all sorts of stuff but for know on I decided that I'm going to leave all in the hands of my destiny and hopefully one day one day I walk on that stage and see myself as a professional and also humble architecture as my mom says because she always tough me that no matter how much I accomplish in my life I always have to stay humble and hopefully one day I graduate as a architecture and make my family happy and that is all.
