Final Reflection & Portfolio

Final Reflection: 1)What I have learn about myself as a reader and writer this semester is that before I did not take writing and reading seriously and now that this semester ended, now I take writing and reading seriously and I i think that these two things are essential in our everyday life because without writing and reading people will not be able to express their feelings and also tell their everyday experiences in life and without reading people will not be able to improve your focus,memory,empathy,and communication skills. 2)The way that I develop in this semester as a reader and a writer was that as a writer now when I write with more detail in my writings and also when I write I focus on my expressions in my writing so that I can make my readers enjoy my writing but also make my writing interesting but also not to boring at the same time, as a reader what I have develop is that now when I read I put my self in the writer's perspective and imagine why did the writing wrote this and what is he/she trying to show in his/her reading and how conveying is his/her writing, but also how their ideas impacted their writing and that they are impressive to also recommend their writing to other people, and last but not least in when you read a book or anything in particular you have to see if the reading is that IT leaves a lesson to you and how this lesson has impacted you in some way. 3) What I have learn from this class and might transfer this knowledge to other situations is that reading and writing is something that should be in our everyday lives and also something that we should be improving every single time and that we should know that writing helps us communicate with other and also it helps us to express our feelings and share our ideas to other and see if also agree to what others think about our writing and also take those advises so that we can improve more in our writing, also what i have learn is that there is no right or wrong answer in writing nor reading but we should take every single advise that we get so that we can understand what is to be writer and a reader, and how putting ideas to make a good writing and also a reading is not easy and that whatever we can learn from these two kinds of stuff in English, also what is for me one of the most important things that i have learn in this class from this semester is communication and how this can helps us to share our ideas and be confident on what we have to say and that we should not just be stuck with our on beliefs but to also take other people's ideas and also to respect them in every single way. 4) "I was learning more about the history behind architecture and how humanity evolved from building houses with rocks to buildings this massive skyscrapers, so when the time came to go to college I decided that the major that I was going to chose was architecture and that is going to be my goal" I included this quote from my narrative essay because in this quote I explained how I research about architecture and how when reading and informing myself more about architecture made me chose this as my career and how this was my goal. "So I got interested in this question because over the course of the years a lot of cases of murder had be happening because of gun violence and how most of these cases are happening because of people been able to have access to guns..." This is the quote I chose for my reflective annotated bibliography because it shows how I have informed myself more as a reader and how I took other people's ideas and implemented them into my reading so that I can improve my writing. For the gender assignment I don't have any particular quote but what I can say about my presentation is that I was very organized and also creative and unique.
