

Noor Shamanta Jahan
New York City College of Technology, CUNY
300 Jay Street
Brooklyn, NY 11201

Date

Noushin Anika
Address
City, State Zipcode

Dear Recipient:

As an advocate for the African American discourse community, the main issue affecting the well-being of individuals is discrimination from many aspects of their lives, from the workplace to daily activities. They constantly live in fear. On the other hand, the majority of white people tend to enjoy more privileges in society compared to African Americans. Though the problem arises with white supremacists and older politicians who hold skewed views towards people of color. As promoters of the African American discourse community, we tend to develop a disconnection with the social norms wherever we see injustices towards black people.

The discrimination of black people is based on unjust aspects that have no substantial importance in the community. For instance, African Americans are mainly discriminated against due to their appearance, and with America's history with slavery. The basis used by the white supremacist to deny black people their vital rights in society is undesirable. From my point of view, the organizations in society have a responsibility to adopt effective measures that uphold the quality of education among individuals concerning the importance of equality. The integration of information concerning the metrics of equality will facilitate changing the behaviors of white supremacists.

The manifestation of discrimination towards African Americans lowers their quality of life. Through discrimination, African Americans lose the sense of being connected with others in society. The lack of a sense of connection implies that African Americans will be reluctant to coordinate with white people in solving imperative issues. The lack of participation of African Americans in addressing vital issues leads to the reduction of the quality of living among people. The reduction of the efficacy of life among people reduces the sensation of belonging in the community.

The discrimination and inequalities towards African Americans have led to the intensification of social ills. For instance, police brutality towards African Americans is based on the nature of discrimination in society. Thus, efficient measures have to attain integration to eradicate discrimination towards the African Americans to facilitate the transformation of the efficacy of their lives. Through the solution to the problem of discrimination, others can view African Americans as substantial in the community. The positive perspectives of African Americans comprise the capability of integrating the quality of their lives.

Additionally, movements have been generated in society to address the issues facing African Americans. The integration of adequate movements addressing the problems of African Americans displays the effectiveness of their lives. For instance, The Black Lives Matter movement has played an imperative role in solving racism towards black people. The adequate solution to the problems of racism shows to have resulted in the transformation of the quality of living among individuals in the community. The adoption of effective measures meant to address essential issues displays the potential of upholding the reformation of the livelihoods of black people.

From my viewpoint, the problems facing African Americans can be solved through sufficient support of issues of the discourse community by white people. Therefore, white individuals who are progressive in social issues should play an active role in addressing the racism issues they face. The assistance of white people in eradicating discrimination against African Americans will translate in the transformation of the effectiveness of their lives in the community.

Sincerely,

Noor Shamanta Jahan