

ABOUT CHILD LABOUR

Children who labour suffer from growth and have development issues due to harmful chemicals. Years of hazardous work can and has had many effects on their health. It deprives children of their childhood. Us as citizens can come together to reach out to programs such as the state commission for protection of children rights. This organization can do more to make sure that children around the world are safe and have a bed to sleep on every night. The system is failing many of these children. We are calling out to the state commission of protection of children rights to do more to improve child labour awareness by advertising TV commercials, bus stop posters, amber alerts, radio, newspapers, ways we can inform our citizens to speak up.
