Dear Students,

I hope all are good and doing better in your life. I am talking about whoes are taking ENG 1121 for the next spring semester. I want to talk about how I felt this semester and how I covered my reading and writing in my semester. When I first started the semester it was okay like not too much reading or writing but the middle of the semester and end of the semester that's a big task to cover everything. I recommend students who do not finish homework on time that it will be hard for you to finish everything at the end of the semester so please finish homework on time. If you don't understand anything, email the professor any time because she is so nice and she will reply. I like writing mostly because I like to research and also when I research about others that gives me extra knowledge about others. In this semester we did unit one assignment about letter, speech, for unit two annotated bibliography, unit three we did multimodal. Unit one and unit two I did before semester so I knew how to do this but unit three could be new. I didn't know how to multimodal but when I read the instructions I noticed that it's not that hard. Also, we did

Douglas reading, which was so interesting. After the whole semester it was nice and fun. I suggested that I always listen to professor instructions and finish everything on time. If you struggle with something come office hours then she will help you. I hope you guys will enjoy the next semester.

Sincerely,

Afroza Yasmin
