

Kevon Dawkins
9/24/20
English 1121
Word Counts:938(Incomplete)

Unit 1:Investigating a Discourse Community(Not finished)

Well, you don't have to ask what community/service as I would create in the future that can have a major effect on the society/community or the world, soccer takes the cake. When I was a kid, I was very valiant/curious to know how community was that I was in a schoolboy's scouts due to my lack of ambition and cowardly aspect of myself that changes my life. You ma asked why would I create a soccer club for both boys and girls separately? well, most of my statements/reasoning is based on my experience and action/verbal scenes that I saw during my childhood up to this present day as I speak. First, you need to know how important discourse communities are to our society, environment, schemes.Joining/creating a discourse community can benefit businesses, branches, organizations, and franchises that the more revenues a group gets the more donation for people who are financial and economic debt that can display the group a good message to others. You can consider inspiration and motivation that once you find someone who is doing an awesome job, that influences/motivates you to do more and probably have a competition, haha. After all, this can have an effect of inspiring you to go harder in order to achieve better goals than before. Another positive factor is lessons that you can learn from peoples mistakes and experiences that can have a major impact on you go in alife ladder. When you joined a discourse community, it requires good communication skills that if you worry that you are a bad communicator, don't worry because that's one of the goals being a member of a community. Opportunities are another criteria of why people need to join/create a discourse community hence can help you when applying for a job in the future. People must know that when you seek an opportunity don't wait or don't hesitate just take that you won't regret at the end of the day . The last and unforgettable aspect is having fun, obviously if you don't like to work, you're not going to enjoy/have fun due to your lack of positivity and more negative thoughts about your current role of your discourse community which equals to less work done which will have a negative effect on your discourse community(one person for the whole team). Let us go deeply into my future discourse community(Boys and Girls Soccer Association discourse community). When started, this will be an innovation principle that other clubs/communities are going to give us feedback based on what they are seeing as a result. I believe we can improve on our mistakes/missing piece on our collection that benefits outsiders and insiders, "always room for improvement."This will also be a business attraction for open positions who are into the association Boys and a Girls Soccer team that can increase our revenues and as result, we can donate to charity if possible. For positions, having a research team can be vital to our discourse community that we can know whats going on and analysis of where we are standing in the table. A research faculty would be beneficial that we can track our goals and achievement progress so we can move closer to our objective. Loyalty is another, we need individuals that we can trust and are very truly on their facts, opinions, and evidence that one mistake can jeopardize the discourse community/organization therefore others as well. In my dogma(opinion), I believe truly that if a member is not satisfied, the leader is not ok with that statement that I will try to evaluate/solve your problem and not give up until fully succeeded. I care about my staff members/players they are like family as a leader, friend, brother or relative that "no human is limited". Lastly, lets us jump furthermore in the future that we have all our members intact with my boys and girls soccer discourse community. Our goals/objectives for this discourse community is to help strengthen calcium and muscular features for our players to play well that without these nutrients we will fail the mission (what the input is what the output is going to be) that being said we have to prepare no matter the cost. "You lose or win", this trains our players to be respectful towards opponents, no matter the score, and this shows good sportsmanship as a player and gain a lot more praise/respect from others as well. In my opinion, i believe that everyone is not perfect that you win, draw or lose its life that all we can do is try, get better(never give up), and hope for the best that we can't predict reality over-expectation that being said this will have an increased chance but not guarantee of winning more games than losing. " Teamwork makes the dreamwork" that without playing as a team , you're better off playing by yourself. Why is that so?, well because people think that if you are in the team that can cause disruption formation of players playing style which they can blame you if concede any goals/points." Having self-esteem" can greatly affect your sharp mentality and confidence which the result would be greater. More dedication equals to more team effort and makes you a warrior in the team that has what it takes to succeed.

Sources/Work cited

<https://www.smartcompany.com.au/people-human-resources/five-powerful-benefits-of-being-part-of-a-community/>

<https://opensource.com/open-organization/18/3/why-build-community-3>

<https://mastersoccermind.com/the-20-benefits-of-playing-soccer-and-how-it-changed-my-life/>