

Destiny Kinloch
English Composition 2
May 7, 2020
Word Count: 613

Process Essay

In the beginning when I was told I had to repurpose a previous writing assignment I was very annoyed. I felt like we were continuously talking about the same thing when I was ready to move on to something new. Also I didn't like the writing topics we had so I wanted to write about something new. But I didn't have a choice but to write about it so I had to brainstorm. I didn't have any idea what to make my website about because I was very unmotivated since I wanted to move on from previous topics. Also I'm just unmotivated in general because I want to physically be in school but that isn't the circumstance right now. But I thought about the topics I wrote about which was fashion and hospitality management and I had to figure out which one I'm very passionate about. I did that because that's one of the ways I get myself motivated and start thinking to come up with something. I'm very passionate about hospitality management because I want to open up my own hotel so I knew that the topic of my website was going to be in that area. I didn't want to just write about hospitality management all over again because that is a very broad topic and I felt that was basic and it would've become repetitive since I already wrote a 2,000 word essay about it. So I chose to choose an area in hospitality management and show what I was speaking about by creating my own hotel. I felt creating my own hotel and being specific about certain components of it would give readers a visual of what I was saying in my previous writing piece about hospitality management. This made me really enjoy creating this website because I was able to showcase my dream and it encouraged me to create goals for myself and do extra research. It made me realize the steps it takes to open up my own hotel and it motivated me to really finish college with a bachelorette degree and then go for my masters.

Also it made me research different internships and different hotels that might be hiring someone like me with no experience. I was already doing some of these things before this writing assignment but I was putting it to the side because I thought I had to wait until I got a little older. But this assignment made me come to the realization that I don't have to wait and if I work hard and focus on what I really want to do then I can start taking steps towards my dream now. The feedback I received from my peers was mostly positive so I felt good about that. But the only recurring comment I had was some people weren't able to read certain slides because the background for each slide was a different part of the hotel that I was explaining. So I went back and had one of my family members read it and they had the same problem so I fixed it. Overall, I'm happy that we had to do this assignment because I got to showcase what I want to do with my life and I learned things about myself. Before this assignment, I didn't really have any set goals because I didn't think that this was something that I was going to enjoy writing so I just wanted to get it over with. But now it made me realize repurposing forces you to do deep thinking and think about how to repurpose something you've already done.