

New York City College of Technology CUNY

Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez's speech

I'm using a speech as an example because speaking directly to a community has a greater impact.

According to Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez's speech, women are being disrespected and verbally abused by inhuman men. In her speech, she especially took her incident with Mr. Yoho as an example of women's harassment. As a congressman, he was supposed to be a descendant and have respect for everyone, not just women. Thus, in his behavior toward Ms. Cortez, he provided an opportunity for every man to be disrespectful.

Today I am talking about women's harassment, a critical issue that our community is facing. Our mothers, sisters, or daughters could be facing this at any time, just like what happened to Ms. Cortez. They could be abused by rude men and called names that have bad effects on them. That is why every man who despises women should face harsh punishment. So I called everyone to react, report, and document the incident so that no man would dare abuse women. Finally, Ms. Cortez is just an example of what is happening daily with girls, and Mr. Yoho's not apologizing is proof that the change must come from men like him, men with power. And for this, I call on the authorities to make decisions and not demands to settle this issue so that women can live peacefully.