

Dear Student,

If you are on Eng1121 it means that you passed your first English class, that's the route of a successful student so keep going, the path isn't going to be effortless so you have to stay focused, hold your goals in your mind and accomplish it for your coming career. Organize your time, develop strategies to improve your readings and your writing, never give up, and don't look back. Also, don't overlook your inferior grades and don't get mad or upset about them, comprehend your errors, and don't slip on them again. College life isn't easy but you can do it, we all can. Don't rush on your class assignments because that way you won't be able to unleash your full potential- take your time, listen to music, and do something that relaxes you before concluding your homework to not get anxious or frustrated but remember there is always time to get better and enhance your knowledge. To conclude this letter I want to remind you that don't choose the easiest path, do your best on something new, that's the only way to learn because if you don't get out of the bubble that wraps around you, you will never be able to realize how much potential in learning something completely new you have and who knows, you might like it. Enjoy every single one of your assignments and don't whine or get bothered when doing your homework. But the most important thing is to have fun when learning. Don't give up!

Sincerely, Angel Lavaire.
