Special Event

"Living the Dream: Celebrating History"

July 28 to August 24, 2013

Harlem observes the 150th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation with special tributes to this momentous event, and celebrates the dream of freedom which grows in the vital, vibrant and creative society we have today. The significance and possibility of freedom are expressed in a month-long celebration featuring live concerts, street fairs, sports events, movies, health services and cultural activities.

For a complete list of events, call HARLEEM WLLK at (212) 862-0477 or visit <http://harlemweek.com/calendar-of-events/>.

The purpose of me attending the MTA Harlem week special event was to try and obtain a job with the MTA. This event was located in Columbia University. When I first got there I was amazed because the amount of people looking for a job was insane. There must have been over 5000 people there because the line extended to about 2 full city blocks. The reason that this trip pertains to my engineering class is because when I spoke to the recruiter and showed him my resume we began to speak about the Electronics Equipment Maintainer position. This is a well paid position that requires a higher level of knowledge in Engineering. Unfortunately, I do not meet these requirements at least until I get my BA degree. But the recruiter has my email address and shows interest in me because he emails me from time to time presenting me with opportunities I can take. He said that when the internships start in the summer I would have priority because I spoke with him and he likes what I have to offer. Aside from that I learned that there are many people who want to be engineers. This only motivates me to be the best.
