

Despite setbacks, Bloomberg plan has made New York Greener

How green former President Bill Clinton and Mayor Michael Bloomberg have got is expressed in the article “Despite Setbacks, Bloomberg Plan Has Made New York Greener” by Courtney Gross. It shows how Clinton bought a hybrid, Bloomberg painted the roof his Upper East Side townhouse white, they both pushed for sustainable building to show their effort in going green. The themes are the disappointments, the successes, and Moving 2.0 of Bloomberg’s plan to make New York greener. These themes show the up and down outcome of making New York Greener. The first theme disappointment shows that the plan was working out when it began. The second theme was the next stage where his plans is getting good results after some setbacks. The third theme was about the next version of PlaNYC which the first version didn’t work out and in the new version was third and last stage of Bloomberg’s plans. The article shows that Bloomberg has to take some time before his plans can produced good results.
