Learning analysis of program

The baccalaureate nursing program provided me a more in-depth knowledge of the physical and social sciences, nursing research, nursing leadership and management.

There was also extensive course on public health nursing, and the humanities. This broader and more in-depth education enhances my ability to better understand the many social, cultural, economic and political issues that impact my patients and influence healthcare. I strive as a register nurse to provide the best patient care. My baccalaureate Nursing education is also associated with increase patient safety and quality of care.
