Video Project Idea

So the aim for our video project is to create a three minute documentary on someone who is living with us, or even ourselves. I'm doing my video project on my adoptive mother, Susan, who's a kindergarten teacher in a Catholic school dealing with one sibling who's getting married in August and the other sibling who is a literal psychopath. I'll be asking Susan questions and she'll be giving answers and telling stories, like how she found a dead body right by our house when she was 7 years old. The video will also contain clips of us trying to live day to day during the end of the world. Some questions and stories will be more serious while others are just me harassing her because I'm her favorite child!
