

October 5, 2018

RE: Stephanie Cardenas

To Whom It May Concern:

As an adjunct professor at The City of New York (CUNY) New York City College of Technology (NYCCT), I have had the opportunity to work closely with Ms. Stephanie Cardenas as her clinical instructor during her fourth semester clinical rotation in a critical care hospital setting.

Ms. Stephanie Cardenas has proven to be positively enthusiastic about delivering the best possible nursing care. She demonstrates a high level of critical-thinking skills and professionalism. In addition, she has an extensive understanding of the nursing process.

Ms. Stephanie Cardenas has excellent clinical and communication skills and keeps her knowledge current to align with changes in the healthcare system. She learned a great deal and has grown tremendously and as a result, serves as a clinical resource for her nursing-student colleagues; she does not hesitate to impart her knowledge to her colleagues and patients. She is a wonderful representation of what health care providers should be.

It is with great esteem that I can unabashedly recommend Ms. Stephanie Cardenas as a candidate for a position as a Registered Nurse (RN). I have no doubt that she will be an asset to any institution that hires her as a RN.

Should you require additional information, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

Sophia Munoz-Bennett, MSN, RN, FNP-BC, NP-C, PCCN, SCRN
Adjunct Professor, CUNY NYCCT
Tel: 718.283.7580
Mobile: 347.731.3860 or 347.675.5095
smunoz-bennett@maimonidesmed.org