Writing Assignment: Lipogram

Its 3:33 pm. There I was binge watching my favorite netflix series “RAIN” dreading my commute to school. One more episode my inner devil told me. I resisted and commenced my journey. J train rides were always amazing. I began reading an urban fiction on Wattpad while watching a mother scream her lungs out through her phone. Typical New York City I tell you. My stop was next. I hated having to battle to get through crowds, and shove people I didn't know but oh well. All I could think about was food. I'd been craving Wingstop since school has started. 8:30 was calling my name.
