Akmal Khudaybakhshiev

Jennifer Sears

09/21/2020

ENG 1101

Events That Encourage Me to Learn

I planned to register for classes and start my education from Fall semester and prepared to be go to school and be active in class. However when I understand classes will be online I was little bit upset. My major is learning Finance and I wanted to be in class around my classmates and help to each other.I would love go to college and studying something new but COVID-19 shut down all the schools and University in the country All the world suffers from COVID-19, so all the classes started go online to protect students from each other.. However I expected to go school, sit in class and learn from my professor in person. Although as much as I hate to say this, having this pandemic changed my narrative on learning in a positive way. For instance, having this pandemic taught me new ways of learning and being more independent. Even though this has been dreadful experience for the most of us I can say that it offered me opportunities to become a better thinker and be more independent. The main thing is be ready to learn all the time no matter what situation around us.

When went to high school I was asking questions from my teacher and get information easy and faster, , it helped me get good grades and learn next lesson easier. Leaning online is difficult then studying in class because most of the time students should do classwork by themselves and learn at home from Internet. Some of the classes explains by professor on the Zoom but some of the classes doesn't have any online meetings which means students can't get answer to their questions. In addition, the most of the time study from internet takes more time because to search answers student's questions from internet takes more time to get exact answer. The big problem is some students can't understand lessons well without helping professor's and fail their exams and spend extra time to learn again from beginning. My opinion is all the online classes should be on the Zoom meetings and explaining by professor to achieve success in future. I have my goal is to learn as mush as possible from online classes and pass my exams, so I'm learning after online classes from YouTube which gives me understanding the lessons. The main point is to try find light on the tunnel even it is hard, I mean when students want get success they need to work hard and find different ways to learn then it will show good results.

People should be strong and keep going to live without panic because living with negative emotions doesn't let go to right way and it will damage our live's. The most of the people staying home and doing nothing. However there many tings to do from home such as studying online, working online stores and do exercises from home without going outside. I have my schedule which let me do all the things on time and be successful. This pandemic time teaches us to be independent from home and be responsible to our school and jobs. I have never imagined to do too many things from home without going outside but we living in technology century, so we can do all the things from home. The main point is be confident and try to do with motivation. In last, people don't have to lose hope and stay one place without action. Everything will be okay when people thinks positively to life.