Fatoumata Magiraga

English 1101

There are events that have a significant impact on education. An event that has affected the way I view school is Covid 19. Covid-19 changed a lot of people's lives because they were not able to experience the way they would attend school and or learn the way they used to learn. Covid-19 was very hard for people's lives because now everywhere you want to attend you have to wear a mask. And now wearing a mask has made the whole country different.

Cocid-19 changed the way I am as a student because it has now made me realize what I have to do to become successful in school. When the padamica first started getting worse and worse and school had to be shut down that when i was like i won't be able to finish high school the way i wanted to end it. I was the Student Government President of the school and i had so much in mind that i wanted to do before school ended but once school closed and they said we will not be returning until next school year that had broken my heart because that was my last year of school and i wouldn't be able to have the same experience i imagining having. Well after high school ended and I was about to begin college I had some goals in mind. The goals I had before this pandemic was to go to school on-campus, meet new people, become familiar with the new environment and get to meet my professors. Well that wasn't able to happen because for the fall semester school will be closed and I have to wait for the next semester to do what i was planning on doing since high school ended. I had become a very big thinker since this pandemic. When the padamice approached I gave up on life. I didn't want to focus no more on school anymore. I just wanted to be free and forget about school. I was even unsure about attending college because I was stressed that I didn't end high school the way I wanted to finish it. So then I started thinking like I can't sit in my house to do nothing so I need to get up and continue my journey. To be successful in nursing I need to continue my education career which was to go to college. This pandemic changed the way I learned because now that I'm not face to face with my professors or peers that it may be harder for people. I know it is harder for me to learn because i am a visual learner so since i'm not face to face with my teachers i am not able to learn the way i want to learn.

Covid-19 shaped my relationship to school because it changed the way I will learn now. I won't learn the same way I did and the way it was best for me to learn. In school I am more of a visual learner. I also prefer working in groups with my peers and teachers. But now that i am home i am not able to experience that. Sometime in life you have to change the way you learn because life doesn't always go your way. So now that I am home learning differently I am using different techniques to learn better. Covid relates to social and cultural issues because now in society everyone has to stay safe wearing a mask and now we are looking the same. There are rules that everyone has to follow or there are consequences towards them. It has also affected people's race because people are saying that covid has come from chinese people. People are harassing them for what they have done to the world. Things happen for a reason and I feel like that was a warning to the world to just be careful and stuff. The educational system has changed a lot. Everyone is doing remote leaning blended in with going to school. It won't be the same as before covid started. The language that is being used can relate to the story I read because sometimes the way kids talk in this generation is very bad. Sometimes they don't watch what they say so when they say it they don't realize the things they say that may hurt the people they are talking to. Most times you have to realize what you say to people may affect you in the future. This pandemic helps me understand more on learning and language. My learning abilities are still visible even though it is not the way I would experience it to be. I'm learning differently now that I am home and using other resources to help me out is always a good way to get through things without always counting on people. This understanding reflects on the community because now the community has to be very cautious about what they have to do to keep the world safe. Sometimes it's good to take care of yourself and family so bad things won't happen to you.