When you want something, all the universe conspires in helping you to achieve it.