

Continuing Education Online Interactive Course

Ms. Shi Yun Zhang

Successfully Completed:

Developing a Career in Dental Public Health

Bonnie G. Branson, RDH, PhD

Upon completion of this course, the dental professional should be able to:

- Develop a framework for thinking through the possibilities for a career in dental public health.
- Create a list of characteristics that would describe the ideal dental public health position for his/her situation.
- Realistically appraise a career in dental public health.
- Develop a list of skills necessary to be successful in a career in dental public health.
- Investigate the state dental practice act for his/her state as it relates to dental public health.
- Locate individuals in his or her state that would serve as a network for connections to dental public health opportunities.
- Seek regional and national associations that strengthen the dental public health network.
- Consider opportunities with government agencies that offer careers in dental public health.
- Consider a variety of advanced educational opportunities that would advance a career in dental public health.

03/23/2017