

TIERING, GURONG

FLOOR system = It is composed of a series of linear beams and joists overlaid with a plane of sheathing and decking.

- It's directly related to size and position.
- The floor plane is supported structurally by foundation which effects both integrity.

- The depth and the floor of the constructed within for necessity to accommodate new mechanical or electrical.

Concrete classified of their cast forms about 4/05. - 407.

- Supported by beams.

Steel: supported steel section or concrete slabs.

- Beam framing is typically an integral part as steel

Wood

- Support structural plating or decking
- beams are supported by girders, post.
- Under side of floor structure be left exposed.

