

Enrique Browne

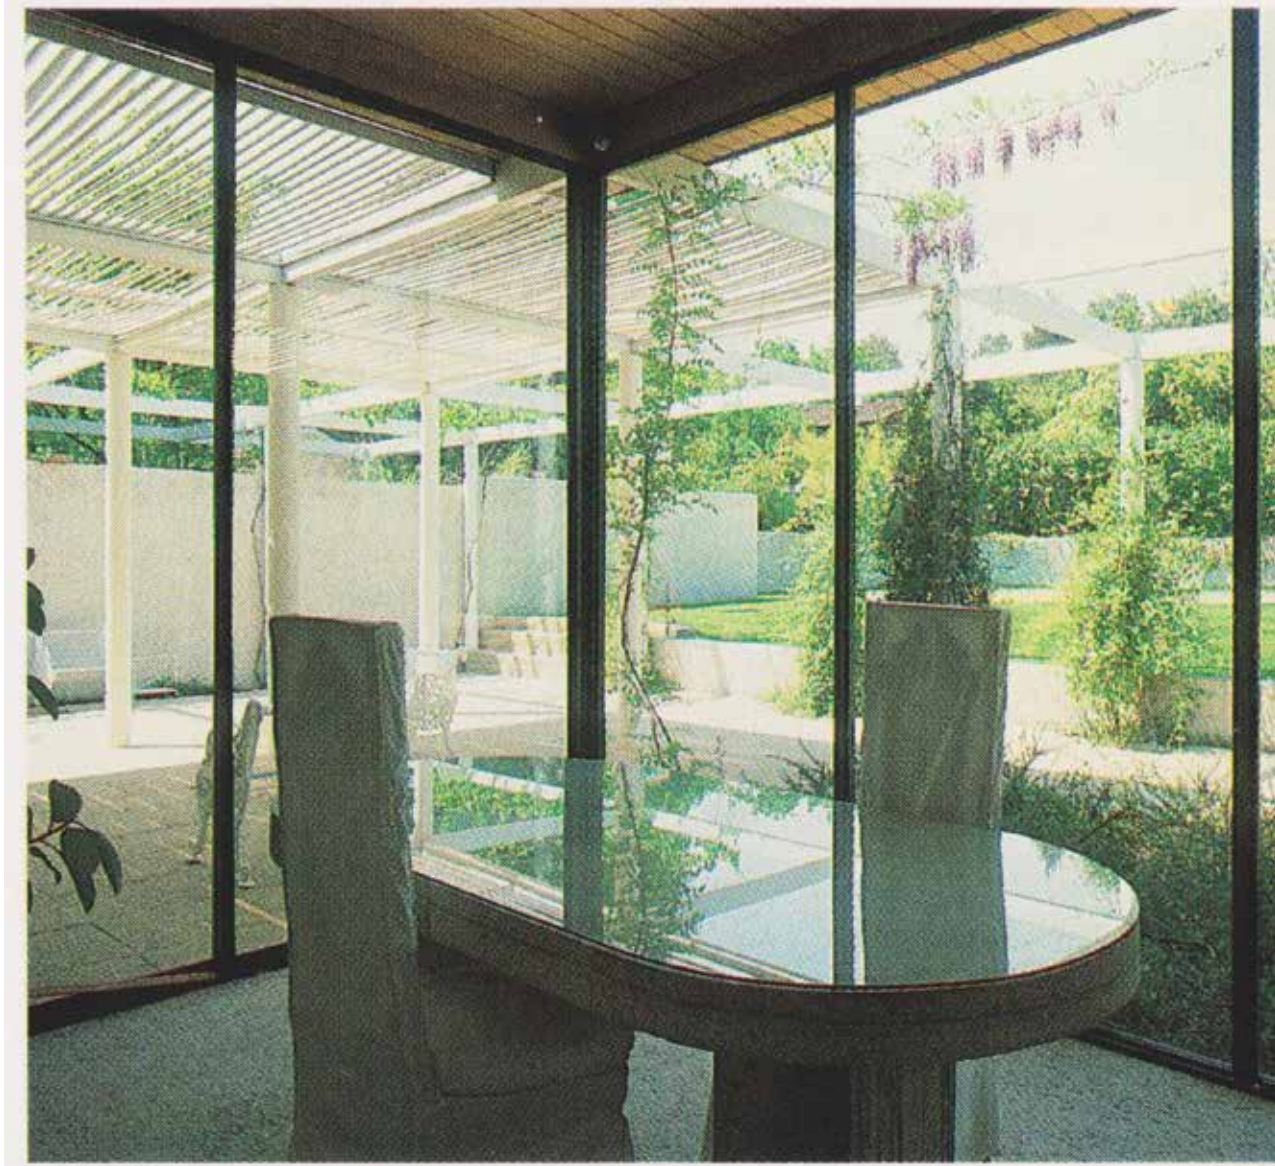

Architect Enrique Browne began his architect career in 1982. Sergio Larraine and Cristian Fernandez Cox and Enrique co-founded the taller America firm.

Enrique designed his buildings in a way that keep the nature and architecture united and not against one another. Another thing that sets Enrique from other architects is that he doesn't know that his project is finished until he gets a feeling that it is good.

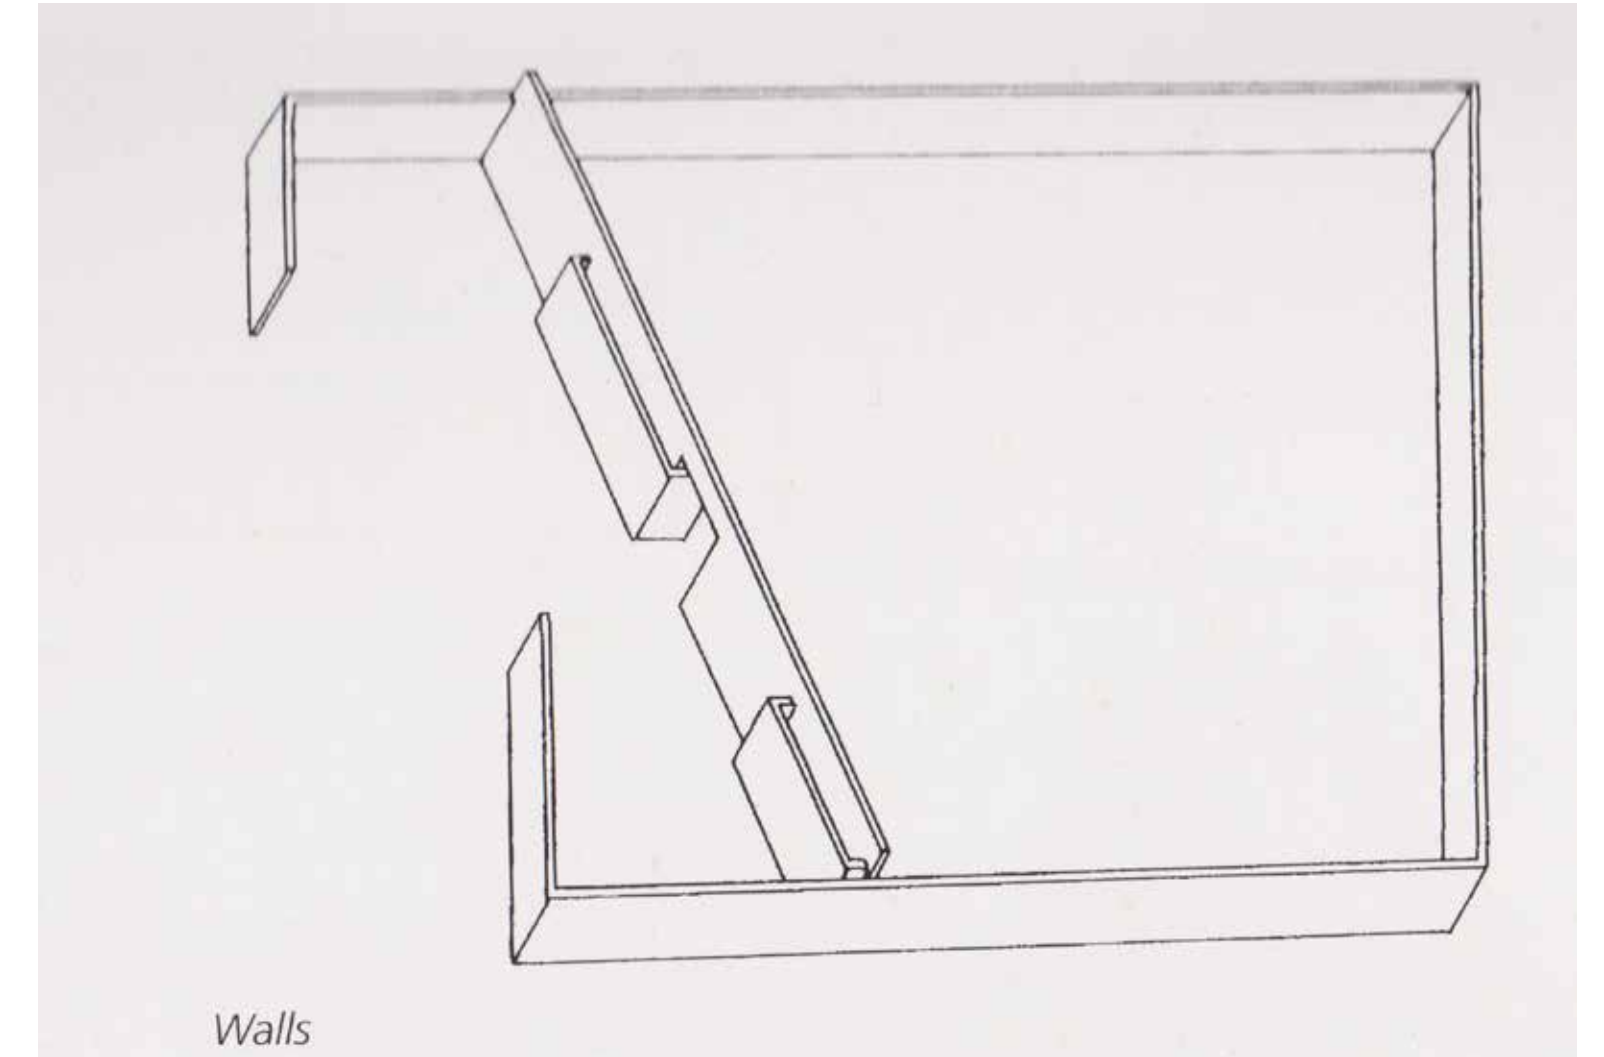

The architects that could have had an influence on how he designed are;

Frank Gehry, Lucio Costa, Oscar Niemeyer, Norman foster, and Richard Rogers.
