

NEST: Noyce Explorers, Scholars, Teachers

A NSF Funded Initiative to Develop Extraordinary STEM Teachers

Interested in becoming a high school or middle school STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics) teacher in New York State?

The NEST initiative will

- Provide early classroom teaching experiences
- Mentor you through the STEM teacher education
- Provide exciting STEM teaching workshops
- Offer a Noyce Teacher Scholarship

How can you get involved? How much will you get paid?

- Teaching Internships $750/semester
- 3-Week Summer STEM Workshops $600
- Scholarships for future STEM teachers $10,000/year
- Exciting STEM information sessions in Spring and Fall terms

Attend information sessions

- September 17, 2015, 12PM-2PM, Namm Hall 908
- October 15, 2015, 12PM-2PM, Namm Hall 908
- November 12, 2015, 12PM-2PM, Namm Hall 908
- December 3, 2015, 12PM-2PM, Namm Hall 908

For more information please contact Noyce Program Coordinator

Ms. Lusine Gasparyan, at cuny889@gmail.com or

Dr. Fangyang Shen, CST, N1000

Dr. Andrew Douglas, Mathematics, N707

Dr. Lieselle Trinidad, CTE, M202

Dr. Estela Rojas, Mathematics, N727

fshen@citytech.cuny.edu

adouglas@citytech.cuny.edu

ltrinidad@citytech.cuny.edu

erojas@citytech.cuny.edu

