Culture

In Faculty Commons the culture is relaxed and supportive. It is a small knit team of 9 designers, who support each other and works with each other on projects.

Typical Day

"What's on the Zoom agenda for today?"

With the pandemic, the Faculty Commons Team have been communicating via zoom, and email. Occasionally we meet each other in person.

- Status meetings
 - Client introductions
 - See how everyone's doing
 - Status Updates
 - Feedback

Collaborate Project

When one Client splits into two

"If you take out the team in teamwork, it's just work. Now who wants that?"

1. Design Takes Time

First thing I learned was design takes time; your not going to come up with a foolproof and creative design/idea on the first try. I went through many Ideas and Drafts before finding a foolproof solid design.

LIE

“Be creative. I know
we’ll love whatever you come up with.”

TRUTH

“After 27 rounds of revisions...”

2. Don't stay in one lane

Although your major might be one thing try to learn other skills that you can apply and that you can use to further yourself in your field.

”The Future Belongs to those who learn more skills and combine them in a unique way“

Robert Greene
