Plus-Size in Lingerie

Fashion industries have never been towards accepting every size in clothing, primarily through lingerie. The number for plus-size has ranged throughout the years, along with the models representing those numbers. Now, we're seeing more acceptance towards women of all sizes. SavageXFenty by Rhianna could be the brand to thank for this, although other brands have pushed away and even ignored the thought of including plus-size and body positivity. We're starting to see a much more significant change now than we have years before.
