

Yongwei Liu

English 1121-D465

Outline

Intro:

People always can challenge what they can't do, and they try to do. Because anything can be possible, you need to try to do something when people never try to do, and also if you win that, you will get anything what you want, but if you lose that, you are nothing, sometime you will get dead. People always want to challenge himself, he want to triumph over adversity, it need strength and courage. Also you need envy someone, and change your weakness for yourself.

Body:

Have envy someone, to change your weakness.

Need strength in your life.

Need courage in your life.

Conclusion:

Challenge yourself is not always easy, it's too difficult and danger, you should careful yourself and if you know your weakness, just change it for yourself, it is need your strength and courage in your life.