Outline

Intro:

Opener- I am very quiet person when I was kid, I really do not know why I am so. I don't know how to talk with classmate what I am think, I would not like that, I think perhaps it is genetic with my mom, she is quiet too, after then i am living with my father in U.S. it is new place, people speak english and i don't understand people want to say to me, it is difficult to me.

Thiesis- i want to change my character and life, i don't want to be quiet person, i want to get more friend and learn more english.

Bady:

- don't be quiet person

- living with my father and he want me get more friend

- learn new language in strange place

Conclusion:

Although i am still quieterthan your average, i am no longer the same old me, and i get some friend, we have same interests, and we all share what we get, and learn some english better i was.
