To whom this may concern,

This letter is written to introduce my student, Yesenia Machado. I have known Yesenia since the Fall of 2009. She was a dedicated nursing student who worked hard and is committed to her profession. In the clinical environment, she has always demonstrated compassion and concern for all her clients. She strived hard to do well in the academic arena and this is also demonstrated in her clinical performance.

In addition, Yesenia works well with her colleagues and is a wonderful team player. I highly recommend her for a position with your institution and wish her tremendous success in her future endeavors.

Sincerely yours,

Mary Frances McGibbon
