To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing in response to your recent inquiries of intern, Zari Wayman. Zari has interned with us for the past six months and she has shown great promise of becoming a potential stylist. She has been very flexible with our hours and always being able to help in time of a crisis. She's been very professional and discreet when it comes to meeting and talking about clients. Also, she has put in a lot of time to helping to reach out to showrooms and brand representatives. She is a real team player. I would highly recommend Zari Wayman as a qualified applicant to be manager and creative director of our upcoming online store.
