To Whom It May Concern,

It gives me great pleasure to write a letter of recommendation for Candy Z. Yang.

I am an internist has been practice family medicine for many years related. During the course of my clinical practice in the last few years, Candy has been one of the best staff that I have the opportunities to work with, and she has assisted me in various medical treatments and procedures. In fact, she possesses all the attributes that one needs as a medical assistant and nurse. Her understanding and industriousness benefit both of the doctors and patients. There is no question in my mind that one could look for someone with the natural qualification as Candy Yang has. She is a knowledgeable and responsible individual. In addition, Candy is also a nurse who could always get along very well with other staff members.

My only hope is that Candy could achieve what she pursues for her nursing career development. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have question regarding her application to your facility as a registered nurse.

Sincerely Yours,

Chixin Fang, MD
