

14

Basim Naji
4/27/15
ENG1101-D362
Summary

The film "cave of the forgotten dreams" by Werner Herzog is a documentary film about an old cave in France. The cave has a lot of arts and memoirs about people who lived there a long time ago. The film is basically about the art designs and how good the people were in drawing. The people who drew the images of moving animals and different things are very smart because they used some types of materials to draw this that last for thousands of years .