

This project was about line design, our first project in Graphic Design principles. Our objective was to make use a design element to portray an adjective. Line shapes consist of a wide variety when it comes to a type of line, as you can see. A line, in particular, uses circles, arcs, squares( although there is none in my work), as well as vertical and horizontal lines.

Undergoing this project, challenges I encountered doing line design project was picking three adjectives that I was trying to portray. Another challenge was balancing 3 different designs on a page with out clustering the final product. Lastly,

The completion of this project has taught me that basic line segments can augment an artwork in such that an element of design can be captured in the perspective lens
