

Welcome to GQ's fifty-step Fall Style Playbook, where, over the next thirty-four pages, we make dressing better easy, whether you're working at the office, storming into the night, or kicking back over the weekend. Let's start with your business suit. Have you heard that the double-breasted is back? It should be the go-to player in your rotation. And nobody dominates a DB like DENZEL WASHINGTON. Here, GQ's Michael Hainey sits down with the two-time Oscar winner and box-office giant to talk about his first jobs, how his father influenced him, and why he won't question his mojo

» Be the Le Man at the STEP

01

Give Your Business Wardrobe a Raise

The double-breasted suit has come roaring back. We see it not so much as a trend but as a staple. Put the 2012 power suit into your office rotation.

[$]

suit $675
J.Crew

+
shirt $590
Tom Ford

tie $115
Ralph Lauren Black Label

pocket square
Robert Talbott

adding Office

NATHANIEL
GOLDBERG