

Chelsea Market

You have 2 reasons to come here:

- All kind of incredible food
- Unique industrial design of the building

Chelsea Market was established in 1997

Before that the building used to serve as a factory for National Biscuit Company (Or Nabisco) – one of the largest manufactures of biscuits in the country, in the heart of the Meatpacking company

Mr. Cohen reinvented the older complex, between Ninth and 10th Avenue...On the ground floor, he and his designers, Vandenberg Architects, created a long interior arcade of food stores, now well known as the gastronomic “mecca” for tourists all over the world
