

Reel-in more connections to Europe & beyond from the Northwest and Alaska.

Air France links 18 Northwest and Alaskan cities to our gateway to Europe, the Middle East, Africa and India.

Welcome to Europe and beyond, Westerners! Air France now offers 18 new departure cities in the Northwest and Alaska, through a new codeshare agreement with Alaska Airlines and Horizon Air. All of the flights are scheduled to facilitate quick and easy connections with Air France transatlantic service between Seattle and Paris-Charles de Gaulle. That makes Europe and beyond closer and more convenient for western travelers.

More Connections.

The Old World has never been more accessible. Air France now has more codeshare cities in the Pacific Northwest than any other European carrier. Here's the complete list of departure points that now connect with Air France's Seattle gateway:

Anchorage, Alaska	Fairbanks, Alaska	Missoula, Montana	Reno, Nevada
Bellingham, Washington	Juneau, Alaska	Pasco, Washington	Sacramento, California
Boise, Idaho	Kalispell, Montana	Portland, Oregon	Spokane, Washington
Bozeman, Montana	Ketchikan, Alaska	Pullman, Washington
Eugene, Oregon	Medford, Oregon	Redmond, Oregon

More Convenience.

Our Seattle transatlantic flights land in Paris-Charles de Gaulle, where travelers will find direct connections to virtually any part of the world — Europe, Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and beyond. Air France gets them there with one ticket, one baggage check-in and one unique experience. Tickets go on sale December 15, 2007 and flights begin January 5, 2008.

More Miles.

Flying Blue members can earn Miles and use their awards on all Alaska Airlines and Horizon Air flights. And members of the Alaska Airlines Mileage Plan can do likewise on Air France and KLM flights. The benefits are nonstop.
